

Billing Systems

System Context

Billing Systems comprise the subsystems and components that are responsible for all transaction and data related to revenue and expenses generated by customer sales. These are the systems that determine and enforce pricing constraints, cost factors, call rating, customer accounts receivables, portions of accounts payable, invoicing, and payment collections. Most of the billing systems are "real-time" high-transaction systems that require 100% uptime and peak performance.

Z of 13 last saved 2/1/06 11:56 AM
 VONAGE CONFIDENTIAL - This document contains confidential information for use by Vonage Corporation and its subsidiaries.